

Arctic Life

Great living in the great land

Talent show highlights youth ability

PHOTOS BY STAFF SGT. DAVE DONOVAN

Krysta Baker, 6, uses sign language in her performance at the Family and Teen Talent Contest at the Kashim Club Oct. 8. The top acts in each category were recorded on video and sent to the Air Force Services Agency. Those individuals who win on the Services level will go on to perform at Tops in Blue Jan. 19-20.

Above: Members from a local band, Oasis, rip up the stage with their latest musical creation. The band had formed only two weeks prior to their performance Oct. 8. The overall winner was Andrea Robins, 17, who sang "What a wonderful world" by Louis Armstrong. Left: Kelcee, 11, and Krysta, 6, sing a duet at the talent contest.

Cookie time

Mrs. Deanna Menzel, spouse of Master Sgt. Timothy Menzel, 611th Air Support Group first sergeant, prepares a batch of chocolate chip cookies at the Chapel 1 Annex Oct. 8. She was joined by about 25 other spouses and members of the Air Force Sergeants Association Auxiliary Chapter A1473, who sent cookies as part of a care package to various Elmendorf squadrons that in turn sent the cookies to their deployed members overseas.

TECH. SGT. KEITH BROWN